“As a business owner, I feel like I’m part of a club whose members have a vested interest in helping each other by providing value and true service. I also enjoy meeting new owners who run their business like I do. As a service provider, I receive opportunities like those which normally come from referrals from trusted sources.”

- Steve Mallory,
Directors Global

“I know people will be talking up a storm with the results that people are getting and the tremendous value that BOSS™ will continue to deliver”

- Heather Billou,
The Billou Group

“My first BOSS™ meeting I met over 30 service providers and was allowed to present the services offered by my company. This resulted in 5 immediate written requests for my services. I met many interesting and stimulating entrepreneurs, the kind of people I like to associate with. The concept of BOSS™ that facilitates the meeting and cooperation of business people is one of good sense, which I fully support. When compared to other methods of customer acquisition, BOSS™ is one of the least expensive and very effective ways of raising repeatable referrals. It is well accepted that a referred customer is more likely to transact business.”

- Art Appelberg,
